

today's fast life are already too hectic, especially for us seniors and older people. we do not need any further factors or loopholes to make our golden years tarnished. why bother with legislation to make life a little less confusing if we allow loopholes.